4TH ROYAL HIGHLAND FESTIVAL

23rd-24th October, 2019

Our Success Stories and Gratitude!!

Thank you for attending our festival and generously supporting us!!!

Graced by Hon'ble Prime Minister, Dr Lotay Tshering and other Dignitaries, the fourth edition of Royal Highland Festival conducted from 23-24 October 2019 at Langothang, Laya Gewog located above 3800 masl was a grand success. The festival created awareness to tourists and Bhutanese on the yak based livelihood, existence of nomadic culture and scenic beauty of Laya. The festival also provided new economic avenues for the highlanders through home stays, packed pony services and sale of yak related products. Gasa Dzongkhag and highlanders were fortunate for being imparted a great source of pride and assurance in highland culture and livelihood sustainability.

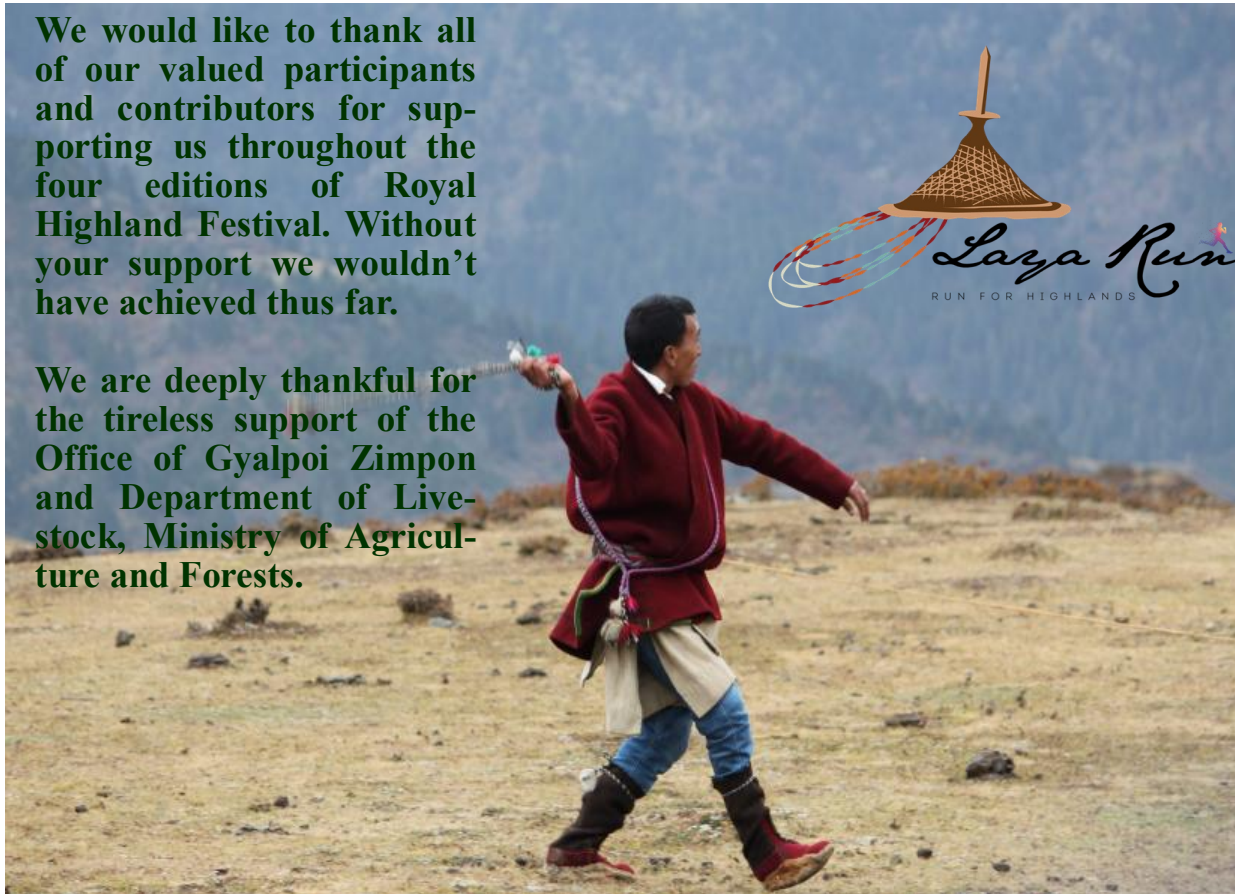

We are overly excited to inform that with the blessings showered by Their Majesties, a two day program was great success with a varied program of admirable events from all participating Highland Dzongkhags, wonderful display of yak based products and enticing programs from celebrities. Various other entertaining programs such as the animal parade, horse race, cattle show, strongwomen competition, sling competition, cross-country race, tug of war and lottery draws for people of Laya besides various cultural dances further appealed some two thousand souls.

The 25 km Laya run starting from Ponjothang to the festival ground was one of the icon of the festival. This year amongst a total of eighty-nine participants (32 female & 57 male), Choki, 25 years old from Laya bagged the title completing the run in 2.31.07 mins and Pema Gyamtsho, 30 years old from the Royal Bhutan Army completed the run in 1.55.11 mins securing the first position in the female and male category respectively. Both were cheerfully offered Tashi khaddar, a medal and took home a cash prize of Nu.70,000/- each. Four male and six female foreigners took part in the challenging run as well.

Aesthetic programs and the future of Gasa

- The Dzongkhag Beautification Progress report.

Background

Gasa is one out of the twenty districts located at north west of the kingdom of Bhutan, characterized by high scrapper mountain with permanent snow cover at the highest elevation above 5400 meters above sea level and lowest elevation of 1500 meter that forms the part of eastern Himalaya.

The human settlement is sparsely distributed over the valley and mountains collectively grouped into four blocks (gewog) known as Lunana, Laya, khatoe and khamed. The uniqueness of their culture and tradition are key ecotourism products that attracts international tourist beside beautiful natural landscape and other organized events (Royal Highland Festival and laya run).

Gasa Tshachu (hot spring) is a key attraction of local tourist within Bhutan. With the precondition believes that we bhutanese are usually brought up with, soaking, bathing, inhaling this holy water is believed to cure internal illness and other diseases.

The maximum temperature of hot spring recorded till date is 53 degree centigrade with lowest around 41 degree centigrade. Winter season is the busiest and crowded period of the year. Indeed, Gasa Tshachu has highest overall contribution in terms of revenue to central government with mean contribution of two million (Nu. 2,000,000/-) annually. Other similar ecotourism products that attract internal tourist with the properties to heal illnesses are Jagoe menchu, Tokey menchu, zep menchu etc... all located within the vicinity of gasa tshachu.

Before the legalization of cordyceps (ophiocordyceps sinensis: the valuable and highly economical fungi) by the great fourth, His Majesty the fourth king in year 2004 for the benefit of highlander, the people of two block (laya and Lunana) are told to be depending, primarily on herding yak and sheep. After more than a decade of legalization of fungi and with grooming current international market (demand) on this unique caterpillar fungi, highlander is the wealthiest of all in the Gasa. The record-breaking price offered for this Chinese caterpillar fungi received at neighboring Bumthang district per kilogram was around thirty thousand in year 2016.

The vegetation is mainly dominated with 30% Mixed conifer and conifer, 10% Alpine scrub, 10% alpine meadows, 1% glacier lake and water bodies, 4% percent broadleaved, 45% with rock outcrops (rugged mountain with permanent snow cover like #Gangchen Singye, gangchen Taag and continues chain of northern table mountain that borders with Tibetan autonomous region).

Gasa Dzongkhag is an economical source to major river like punatshangchu that turbines two nationally importance mega hydropower. It acts as water tower of major communities, settled along the valley downstream, besides providing safe and rich intact vegetation cover for crucial wildlife of internationally significance. Gasa harbor major habitat of national animal 'Takin' (Budorcas taxicolor whitei), and other flagship and umbrella species. The Dzongkhag area totally falls under protective and conservational jurisdiction of second largest national park, Jigme Dorji National Park.

Gasa is a new and recently curved district that was once functioning under administrative control of neighbor district Punakha. People of Gasa celebrated the silver jubilee a year before. With the new hopes and aspiration, communities are yet to be connected with modern facilities like road and lights. Indeed, it's just been few months where Dzongkhag secondary highway has been blacktopped and few ongoing.

The civil servant serves remotes area of country (and of course for Gasa district) like Lunana block (gewog), which is nine days journey through high glacier mountains and rugged terrain facing life threatening mountain/altitude sickness. They are proudly catering basic mandates of their respective agencies to the communities, their stakeholder.

Rationale

With modern development booming in with least care and attention to natural aesthetic beauty and with haphazardly construction and infrastructure creeping in day by day, the wastes are snowballing without sparing remotest places, which is sought after place by many Bhutanese and internationalist. Foreseeing these threats, our visionary monarch, the fifth king has envisaged Dzongkhag Beautification Sector through royal command to uphold and carter landscaping and beautification works in the respective district.

Progress

The remote gasa is up for the challenge to keep its surrounding environment “refreshing, safe, clean, well-organized and alluring in all times to come for our national integrity, national pride, healthy communities and for the brighter future”. The noble vision bloomed from the golden throne.

A. The beautification sector kick started the site development works in beautifying it's jurisdiction from Gentagang reception point with the believe, “It will never rain roses (when we want to have more roses we must plant more trees). The different avenue plants and design are being adapted best suited to the topography and landscape of the area based on locally available materials.

 - The Dzongkhag Beautification Progress report.

B. To have sustainable production of flower and avenue plant, a 20/5m green house and 30 decimal nursery sheds are constructed with the material support from Department of Agriculture and constructive support of dzongkhag GSP and ESP. The seed of hope is sown with the budgetary support (0.050 m) from Dzongkhag Cultural Sector to make Gasa aesthetic and glory in near future.

The variant alpine flower seed was sowed with low germination rate even inside green house as well as in open air after few months of monitoring and care giving. The research trail is completed for this season. The hope is to collect native locally available flower seed and go for wild collection if we have to add colors to already greenery.

The locally available rose and hibiscus cutting is germinating well with the help of root hormone.

C. Due to low germination and few choosy flowers and other avenue plants being survived given the severe climatic condition, we brought matured wild avenue plants to be adapted and acclimatize here at Gasa.

Contd.. Aesthetic programs and the future of Gasa
- The Dzongkhag Beautification Progress report.

D. Avenue plantation.

With the budgetary support from Jigme Dorji National Park funded by PHPA-II, a sum of Nu 0.1 million were used to rehabilitate the Gasa Tshachu area with variant of avenue plants. An area of 2 hectare is brought where aesthetic landscaping program.

The species planted are, wild cheery, dogwood, apricot, acer and salix species.

Contd..Aesthetic programs and the future of Gasa- The Dzongkhag Beautification Progress report.E. Beautifying Melam Chenmo Ground

The Dzongkhag Beautification Sector was entrusted for decorating the melachenmo ground best suit to its landscape and the objectives of committee member. The avenue plants and flower were purchased with sum of nu 0.05 million from Thimphu. The work was completed with a week period during August first week.

Challenges and the constraint

Gasa being less populated area have more scope to complete first round of beautification and landscaping work as compare to other dzongkhag however, with lack of budgetary support from central government and the dzongkhag itself, there is less the sector can do. In addition, the harsh weather with cold to very cold seasons makes it difficult for seasonal flower to germinates and flower.

The lack of work force aids fuel to the fire. Site development work without budgetary support have no scope to employee any worker for planned site development activities. With single person running the single sector without supporting staff proved me difficult. Since beautification work required to be more of blue color job than to be in office, with dzongkhag ESP/GSP already involved in their designated responsibilities, multitasking them and requesting them time and again is costing time leading to delaying and failure of plan. Just to be coordinating the regional and dzongkhag staffs without budget is proving meaning less with no required materials in hand for them to fulfill the desired goal. To promote youth and rural entrepreneur on floriculture and landscaping will still remain in plan with current scenario.

Beautification and landscaping are more than just gardening and floriculture. One need to be expert in carpentry, masonry, driver and rich money lord. Without having any of those qualities, beautification works is less charming, falling back to square one.

Till date I have been spending the money from my personal pocket and adjusting from TADA to carryout beautification activities. Paying the royalties to Park offices, buying gravels from contractors, refreshment for volunteers, hiring private utilities car etc. are some expenditure till date. The other locality-based challenges are free ranging cattle damaging the beautified site.

Contd..Aesthetic programs and the future of Gasa- The Dzongkhag Beautification Progress report.Way Forward

With the hope and dream to fulfill the command and to make gasa more glorious and aesthetic, the site development activities at Tshachu, mini town, gewogs, and other important site including dzong area is tabulated with provoking youth and community floriculture entrepreneur in near future.

The glory of gardening and landscaping: hands in the dirt, head in the sun, heart with a nature. To nurture a garden is to feed not just on with the body, but the soul and good intentions from caregiver. They thrive because someone has to expend effort on them. Beside free ranging domesticated animal that target avenue plants and flower, the year-round freezing climate condition is the biggest challenge that favors the growth of few selective plants and flowers. Gasa has just two seasons: cold and very cold and its paramount for any well-wisher to aspire beautification works to visualized the time prodigiously for brighter and beautiful future.

Brief report on organic products of Gasa
Ranshin Sanam Datshen

1. Background

The Gasa Dzongkhag was declared as an organic since 2004 by then the Ministry of Agriculture which is now restructured as the Ministry of Agriculture and Forests. The farmers refrained from using synthetic fertilizers and plant protection chemicals ever since the Dzongkhag was declared as organic considering the environmental and health benefits in addition other associated benefiting principles. However, not a single product was certified as organic which hindered the sale of organic produce in getting comparatively higher price in absence of organic certificate from the competent authority.

In order to overcome the said problem and also to contribute towards achieving the National vision of becoming organic by 2020, the Dzongkhag Administration in 2015 initiated the formation of Gasa Rangshin Sonam Detschen in Khatoed, Gewog, comprising of 50 members officially registered with the Department of Agriculture Marketing and Corporative (DAMC) and also with the National Organic Program (NOP) with an aim of producing certified organic potato and Garlic to start with.

The group members fully complied with the required norms, procedures and guidelines for certification and finally their Potato, Garlic and Carrot products have been successfully certified as organic vide certificate No.BPCS/Gasa/GP/ of the Bhutan Agriculture and Food Regularity Authority, Ministry of Agriculture and Forests on 10th October 2016.

Thus, Gasa in close collaboration with Department of Marketing and Cooperatives (DAMC), initiated contract marketing for certified organic products through conducting meetings with proprietors/managers and representatives of high-end hotels and through writing letters to institutions such as schools, hospitals and with private booths.

2. Objective

- * To establish guaranteed marketing linkage between buyers and sellers.
- * To achieve a vision of Good to Great Gasa (self-reliance).
- * To inculcate the sense of interest and pride in organic farming.
- * To generate income in long run through sale of organic products.

3. How buyers and sellers linkage commenced with the high-end hotels

In an effort to promote domestic market for the organic produce, a promotional shipment was attempted on November 17, 2016 with 1735kgs of certified potatoes at Centenary Farmers' Market (CFM), Thimphu with support of the Department of Agricultural Marketing and Cooperatives (DAMC) organized the event.

The promotion was successful, in that it was very well received by the consumers and hotels. The hotels committed to support organic potato farming provided the producers can ensure consistency in supply and quality. However, appropriate modalities, such as buyers and sellers meet and contract farming needs to be explored to link the producers with the main consumer groups. Accordingly, a series of meeting was held with the proprietors, managers and representatives of hoteliers in Thimphu.

*Brief report on organic products of GasaRanshin Sanam DatshenContd..

On November 24, 2016 a consultation meeting on organic crop production in Gasa Dzongkhag was convened at DoFPS Conference hall with an objective to discuss on crop selection and marketing strategies. The meeting was attended by Dzongdag of Gasa Dzongkhag, Director, DAMC, Program coordinator, NoP, Dy. CHO, DoA, RQO, BAFRA and other representatives from MoAF. After deliberations on the crop, seed & seedlings selection, the meeting decided to take-up three crops, namely potato, garlic and carrot for the up-coming season 2017.

On the marketing aspect, it was agreed to go for client based and contract farming with high end hotels in Wangdue, Punakha and Thimphu. The retail market at CFM, Thimphu would also be considered as an alternative market. Thus, a buyers (high-end hotels) and sellers meeting was agreed to be convened upon receiving the cost of production, cropping calendar and other relevant information's from the concerned agencies. Export market exploration would also be taken up in near future.

Therefore, a buyer seller meets between the certified organic farmers' group, Rangshin Sanam Detshen from Khatoed Geog, Gasa and the high-end hotels in Thimphu was convened by the DAMC with support from NoP on January 11, 2017 at FCBL, Changzamtog, Thimphu. The meeting was mainly aimed at bringing the organic farming society one step closer to the high-end market and also to discuss the needs of the hotels, negotiate price, workout produce delivery modality, and collect demand for organic produce from the hotels. During the meeting it was agreed on the following prices for the three certified organic products (Garli, Carrot and Potato).

Ranshin Sanam Datshen*

Consequently, on February 9, 2017, a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) was signed in Thimphu between the 11 high-end hotels (buyers) within Thimphu and farmers' group, Rangshin Sanam Detshen from Khatoed Geog, Gasa (Seller)

After signing of the MoU between buyers and sellers, on June 14, 2017 an organic farmers' group of Khatoed Gewog, Gasa delivered its first consignment of certified organic vegetables namely garlic, carrot and potato to the hotels within Thimphu. To mark the delivery of the first consignment, a small event was organized with the buyers, sellers and officials from Ministry of Agriculture and Forest (MoAF) at Taj Tashi.

4. Status and delivered records of products to hoteliers

As stated above, the actual delivery of the products kicked off from June 14, 2017. In the year 2017 during the cropping season, the group has marketed a total of 1780 kgs (1.78mt) of garlic, 2757 kgs (2.7mt) of carrot and 9136 kgs (6.14mt) of potatoes. Likewise, in the year 2018 during cropping season they have supplied 4500kg (4.5 mt) of potatoes, 1300kgs (1.3 mt) of carrot and 2500kgs (2.5mt) of garlic.

5. Production status

The group has potential to produce about 18 MT of garlic from an area of 24.64 acres, 60.80 MT of potato from 19 acres and 10.9 MT of carrot from 8.4 acres respectively every year the season. From the total production on an average 2.78MT of garlic, 9.14mt of potatoes and 2.7MT of carrot could only take up by the hoteliers and stakeholders and the surplus produces has to find market and sell it to other vendors.

Details of income generated from certified crops

Sl. No	Income generated from sale of products	Amount (Nu)	Remarks
1.	Potato	1,38,800/-
2.	Garlic	86,595/-
3.	Carrot	60,620/-

6. Issues and Challenges

- Arranging of vehicle for transportation of produce was difficult as most of the time the Dzongkhag pool vehicle gets coincides with some other Dzongkhag activities. Therefore, the transportation problem would be solved if the group could own one vehicle.
- The first consignment for supply of certified products could deliver to the hoteliers for about 20 weeks or five months rough support and cooperation both from the buyers and sellers. However, during the initial stage of delivering of the products the group encountered issues and challenges in mismatch of the demand from the hoteliers which was not as per the MoU signed.
- The group learned and experienced that delivering products every week was tedious and tiring task with only less quantity demand received from the hoteliers incurring huge losses to the group during transportation and paying daily allowance for the EA, driver and farmers.
- The maximum consumers were found to be not aware of the benefits of consuming organic produce and their income level is also likely to determine their purchase power.
- The farmers or group members are still not expert or good in grading and packaging of the products which fails to meet the quality of product during supply.

7. Way forward

- The Dzongkhag would continue to promote organic farming in future in collaboration with the relevant stakeholders, agencies and organizations.
- In order to create conducive environment for meeting of producers, potential buyers and other relevant stakeholders in drawing an agreement, the technical and financial support from relevant agencies under MoAF would be very crucial and urgent for the coming season (2018).
- The dzongkhag is also planning to have a contract farming system especially with the organic group and Chuniding food which has capacity to take-up huge quantity of products whereby the producers shall sign an agreement with the buyer at an agreed quantity and price at the beginning of cropping season.
- Clear MoU signing with proper planning should draw between buyers and seller at the beginning of the product to have a constant supply and not to have mismatch of demand and supply during the season.
- From the coming season the group suggested and proposes to supply the products on monthly bases not in weekly since delivering weekly was tedious and tiring task for the group and Dzongkhag and even finding difficulty in availing transportation vehicle from the Dzongkhag.
- The Dzongkhag agriculture sector in collaboration with relevant agencies under DoA will provide training to the group on grading and packing of products to ensure quality of products in the coming season.
- Dzongkhag is planning to grow other vegetables and certify as organic and expand the market to other districts as well and outside the country too.
